

307th INFANTRY REGIMENT
WORLD WAR II HONOR ROLLS

In 1948, as veterans of the 307th Infantry Regiment were planning their first reunion since the end of World War II, they compiled lists of their comrades who had made the supreme sacrifice during that war. Although possibly incomplete, those lists are reproduced below because of their historical value. They may need to be supplemented by further historical research from later sources.

These lists of the World War II dead of the regiment were accompanied by a photograph of the "Memorial Stone and Grove -- Central Park, N.Y." as it appeared at that time. The photograph, which is also reproduced below, shows at least four of the original memorial trees which subsequently have also perished. (From left to right, these appear to represent Companies M, C, E and H.)

The caption of the photograph states the intention of those veterans to include in the Memorial Grove a "monumental stone" where "[t]he names of our Honored Dead will be placed along with those who gave their lives in World War I".

MEMORIAL STONE AND GROVE—CENTRAL PARK, N. Y.

(The names of our Honored Dead will be placed along with those who gave their lives in World War I—Appropriate inscription will be added to the monumental stone.)
